ANOTHER ROOM NEEDED IN THE HIGH SCHOOL.

The extra class room in the high school building will need to be fitted up and put into use next fall. There will be approximately fifty pupils in the seventh grade, and thirty-five each in the eighth, ninth and tenth grades. These classes are too large and ought to be divided in most of their studies. Any high school class of more than twenty-five pupils is too large for first-class work. An extra teacher will take care of the additional room and make it possible to divide some of the largest classes.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS.

Under your direction considerable progress has been made in the schools of Newmarket during the past few years. We have better buildings, better equipment and better teaching than we ever had before. A high standard of school work and the welfare of the pupils have been kept in mind. With full appreciation of what you have done, I wish to submit for your consideration the following recommendations for further improvements.

1. That a standard play-ground fence be built around the yard at the South Primary School.

2. That the lights and windows of the high school auditorium be protected with wire so that the room may be used for basket ball and gymnasium purposes as well as an auditorium.

3. That built-in bookcases be provided for the high school.

THE OPPORTUNITY ROOM.

Since last April fifty-two pupils have been registered in the Opportunity Room. Of these eighteen who have been retarded in school work two or more years, have been helped to make up one year; three not promoted in June have been helped to make up the work which caused non-promotion; thirteen who lacked work in Arithmetic and English have been helped enough to enable them to continue in their own grade; seven have needed special help because of sickness, infirmities, bad school habits or lack of systematic school training; eleven are still in the room working for an extra grade this year. Besides the fifty-two who have been regularly registered, more than a dozen others have been given help in one study for several weeks. It has been a genuine opportunity room. Pupils and parents have asked for its help and have been greatly pleased with the progress that has been made. Since forty pupils not promoted in any year require an extra room and teacher, it has more than paid for itself.

Respectfully submitted,

O. R. McCOY.
